Royal Sign Manual Direction

The royal sign-manual is the signature of the sovereign, by the affixing of which the monarch expresses his or her pleasure either by order, commission, or warrant. A sign-manual warrant may be either an executive act, or an authority for affixing the Great Seal of the pertinent realm. The sign-manual is also used to give power to make and ratify treaties. Sign manual, with or without hyphen, is an old term for a handwritten signature in general. It is also referred to as sign manual and signet.

We have received our first Royal Sign Manual Direction issued by the Department for Social Development under power delegated to them by The Queen. The Royal Sign Manual is literally the signature of The Monarch and is a procedure used to identify a charitable beneficiary where there is uncertainty about a beneficiary named in a will. It enables a Direction to be made as to the charitable organisation which most nearly reflects the intention of the person who made the will.
